One after another, the Goths, the Huns, the Saracens, the Turks, and the Tatars, by the sheer tidal force of their numbers threatened to engulf the ancient and medieval civilization of Europe, But neither in the motives prompting them nor in the effect they produced, nor yet in the magnitude of their numbers, will such migrations bear comparison with the great exodus of European peoples which in the course of three centuries has made the United States of America. That move ment of races first across the sea and then across the land to yet another sea, which set in with the English occupation of Virginia in 1607 and which OUR FOREIGNERS has continued from that day to this an almost cease less stream of millions of human beings seeking in the New World what was denied them in the Old has no parallel in history. It was not until the seventeenth century that..
